JOE W. MOCK.

O. B. Graves, while hitching up a horse at his stable Saturday afternoon, let it get away from him, the horse running at full speed up the street. As it turned the corner at the public square, the wheel struck a telephone pole, running the shaft through the back of the runabout of Wm. Burroughs, thereby demolishing it. The animal was soon caught and belonged to Mr. J. F. Barbee.

Time is Ripe for the Clansman.

Thirty years have elapsed since the days of Reconstruction and the time is ripe for plays like "The Clansman," which will be presented by the Southern Amusement Company, George H. Brennan, Manager, at Lexington, January 23 and 24.

There is no more fertile field for the American playwright than the history of his own country, and there is no period more prolific of dramatic situations than the days when the Ku Klux Klan rescued the desolate South from the terrors of the black plague. Thomas Dixon, Jr., has chosen wisely in his theme, and his play has created a sensation greater than any American play heretofore produced. The engagement at the Lexington Opera House includes a special matinee Wednesday, January 24. Mail orders for seats will receive attention.

George & Porter, proprietors of the new Elks' saloon, invite their friends to pay them a call. The best old whiskies, wines and cigars. Remember the place, Main street, Elks' Building.

A Popular Company.

The popular Howard-Dorset Company opened a three-night engagement at the Grand last evening to a large and appreciative audience, presenting "Grit, the Newsboy."

The play last night, although presented by this excellent company on a previous visit to this city, was well received.

The bill to-night will be "The New Governess," and on Wednesday evening "The Dangers of New York."
